IRISH LAND COMMISSION, DUBLIN,
19*th July*, 1883.

SIR,

Referring to your letter of the 13th inst., enclosing a copy of the Fourth Report of the Select Committee of the House of Lords on the Land Law (Ireland), I am directed by the Irish Land Commissioners to forward the accompanying observations for the information of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

W. W. GLENNY.
Assistant Secretary.

The Right Hon. the Chief Secretary,
&c., &c.

THE IRISH LAND COMMISSIONERS

On the Fourth Report of the Select Committee of the House of Lords on Land Law (Ireland).

THE Irish Land Commissioners feel that they have serious reason to complain of the course of proceeding adopted by the Select Committee. When the Committee was appointed early in the Session of 1882, communication was made to the Land Commissioners, requesting the attendance before the Committee, not only of the Commissioners themselves, and of their Officers, but also of several of the Assistant-Commissioners then engaged in their judicial functions in several parts of Ireland. The Commissioners, while expressing their willingness to attend in person, and to send forward the officers of the establishment, respectfully represented to the Committee that the withdrawal of the Assistant-Commissioners even for a time from the important duties upon which they were engaged, would be productive of so much public inconvenience, that they hoped it would not be insisted upon. To this representation the Committee then yielded. Mr. Godley, the Secretary of the Commissioners, and Mr. O'Brien, the head of the Purchase Department, were examined, as were also in succession Mr. Litton, Mr. Justice O'Hagan, and Mr. Vernon. The examination seemed to the Commissioners to be chiefly pointed towards the eliciting of opinion on the extension of the Purchase Clauses, which appeared to be the idea then dominant in the minds of the Committee. Some questions were put as regards the amendment of the procedure and practice, but they were asked as upon matters on which minds might fairly differ, and the Commissioners showed every disposition to enter into, and as far as they thought practicable or prudent, to adopt the suggestions of the Committee. Nothing was said which gave the faintest idea that an attack upon the honour or integrity, either of themselves or of the Assistant-Commissioners was contemplated.

When the Committee was re-appointed in the present Session, the Commissioners, while making no objection to the attendance of any of the Assistant-Commissioners who (as in the case of Mr. Reeves, Q.C.) happened, for the time, to be free from duty, yet thought it right once more to represent the inconvenience which might arise from summoning Assistant-Commissioners engaged in the performance of their functions. The Committee declined to accede to this request ; but, in fact, they summoned only two of the Assistant-Commissioners, in addition to Mr. Reeves, namely, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Romney Foley, Q.C. They called before them a number of other witnesses, of whose evidence it needs only the most superficial perusal to prove that their feelings were those of unmistakable hostility towards the policy of the Land Law Act. The Committee have embodied in their Report, and apparently adopted without reserve, charges made by these witnesses, which, if they were true, would in the opinion of the Commissioners establish their unfitness and that of the Assistant-Commissioners to hold their offices. They did so without the slightest communication with the Commissioners, or with any of the persons who were made the subject of accusations so grave.

The Committee, on this point, in their Fourth Report, say as follows :—

Report, Par. 4.

> "The Committee at the commencement of the present Session examined several additional witnesses, some of whom were officially connected with the working of the Land Act, and the evidence of these witnesses appeared to the Committee to be so important that they thought it right, by a Third Report, to report the Minutes of the Evidence to the House, in order that if it was desired to produce evidence in contradiction or explanation, opportunity might be given for doing so. No evidence, however, of this kind has been offered, and the Committee having examined some additional witnesses, have now to make their final Report."

The Commissioners have to observe, first, that as to the evidence of some of the witnesses upon which the Committee have based their Report—for example, the evidence of Mr. Gray and the O'Conor Don—they have not had an opportunity of seeing that evidence up to this time, and it appears that the draft of the Fourth Report was laid before the Committee and was agreed to on the very day on which the evidence of the last witness was given. But even as to the evidence which was published in the Third Report, the Commissioners cannot but think that further reflection would have led the Committee to conclude that their proceeding was neither just nor such as is demanded by the very nature of a judicial inquiry. To throw down a mass of hostile evidence—evidence in many particulars showing ignorance of the subject, and abounding in frivolous and absurd charges—instead of challenging attention to the specific charges pressing on the minds of the Committee and requiring a specific reply, is, the Commissioners believe, a course which the Committee themselves will not on reflection deem satisfactory.

The Commissioners regret that since the object of the Committee in publishing the evidence contained in their Third Report is stated to have been that of giving an opportunity for contradiction or explanation, they deferred saying so until their Fourth and final Report was published, when that opportunity (so far as regards anything to be submitted to the Committee) no longer existed.

Some of the charges contained in the Report are, as has been already stated, of serious gravity. Some may seem unimportant, but even as to these the Commissioners deem it right that an answer should be given. They proceed then to extract the several passages of the Report and to annex their replies.

I.

Report, Par. 9.

> "Some inconveniences of a minor character have been pointed out to the Committee in the procedure of the Commissioners for settling judicial rents. It is stated that much time and expense would be saved, and the attendance of the Bar facilitated, if the Commissioners in hearing contentious cases argued by counsel would hold their sittings in Dublin, at the Four Courts, in which counsel are generally engaged, and not in their house in Upper Merrion-street, which is a mile and a half distant from the Four Courts (Holmes, 9–16)."

The Commissioners have been always anxious (so far as the necessary discharge of administrative business which requires constant access to their officers and staff, enabled them) to meet the convenience of the Bar by sitting at the Four Courts. They did sit there on several occasions for the discharge of judicial business. But they had no Court set apart for them, and they had to rely upon the courtesy of one of the judges for the temporary use of his Court when disengaged.

The Commissioners did not select the house in Merrion-street as the place for their Court or offices. Nor is it correct to say, as stated by Mr. Holmes, Q.C., that the house was purchased shortly after the Act was passed. The house was the property of the late Irish Church Commissioners, who always sat there for judicial business, and it passed to the Land Commissioners under the Land Act of 1881. The Commissioners when consulted on the subject in the present year, expressed their perfect readiness to sit at the Four Courts if a place were provided for them. They are informed that, through the exertions of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Board of Works are at present engaged in making the necessary arrangements to enable the Commissioners to hold sittings at the Four Courts next November.

II.

"The limit of £10 valuation, below which a landlord has not a right to demand from a tenant the particulars of improvements intended to be relied on by the tenant, is much complained of (Smith, 346–353), and there appears to be no sufficient reason for maintaining this limit, especially if the application to the Court to order particulars, or better particulars, were, in all cases, allowed to be made, as it is contended it should be, to the Court of the Sub-Commissioners in the country, and not to that of the Commissioners in Dublin. (Smith, 354–9.)" Report, Par. 9.

There is no rule or practice which prevents the application for particulars or further particulars being made to the Sub-Commission in the country. The most moderate knowledge of the practice adopted by the Commissioners would have enabled the witness, upon whose evidence the suggestion in the Report appears to have been made, to avoid such an error. Every Sub-Commission has full jurisdiction, in every case delegated to it for adjudication, to make an order for particulars; but cases cannot be delegated to a Sub-Commission at a much earlier period than three weeks before the hearing. The object of requiring particulars, it may be presumed, is to be apprised of the case made by the opposite party, and to be enabled to meet it. It would scarcely be wise to postpone an application for particulars until the case is listed for hearing. If, then, the practice were established that such application should be made to the Sub-Commission in the country, the landlord would be obliged to postpone seeking for the information almost up to the last moment, although the originating notice may have been served on him some months before. Nothing could be more inconvenient to both parties than such postponement; and for that reason, and not for any want of power in the Sub-Commission, applications of the kind are usually made in Dublin. As a matter of cost, no expense would be saved by having the application made in the country.

Upon this subject of expense, the Commissioners may state that the allegation of one of the witnesses, whose evidence would seem to have weighed with the Committee, to the effect that if there were forty holdings on the same estate, a separate application would require to be made in each of the cases, and that the minimum expense of the application would be from £6 to £8, thereby conveying that in the forty cases there would be an expense of at least £240, is so absurd, that (putting aside any intention to mislead) it could only be made by one who knew nothing of the practice of the Court. He says further, that it would need to be made by Counsel, though the statute gives equal right of audience to Solicitors, by whom in the great majority of cases such applications are made. The ordinary course is to have one affidavit in such a case, with a schedule of the names of the tenants. The total expense of moving and obtaining orders in such a number of cases as above referred to, need not exceed in all £2. Smith, 359, 360.

The absolute right of the landlord to demand particulars of improvements without an order of the Court is, by the rule, confined to holdings valued over £10. The Commissioners adopted this limit in the view of preventing the demand for particulars acting oppressively on the poorer class of tenants. They have, however, preserved to the parties the right to make a special application in every case, whatever the valuation may be.

III.

"The changes made from time to time in the constitution of the Sub-Commissions are much deprecated, as they remove from a particular locality persons who have become acquainted with the circumstances and the character of the land in that locality, and whose determinations have become precedents for settlements out of Court in the neighbourhood between landlord and tenant. (Baldwin, 1149—1156). The Committee will afterwards notice the reasons which would appear to have led to some of these changes." Report, Par. 9.

The Commissioners have always recognised the disadvantage of removing Assistant Commissioners from districts after they had acquired local knowledge and experience in the particular locality; two matters however appear to have been overlooked in this complaint. In the first place but twelve gentlemen were originally appointed Assistant Commissioners; afterwards the number was increased to twenty-one, and subsequently to thirty-six in December, 1881. The number was further increased in April, 1882, to forty-eight; in September, 1882, to fifty-one; and in January, 1883, to eighty-five—the present number of Assistant Commissioners. It is manifest that each set of new appointments necessitated a change in the arrangement of Sub-Commissions and Assistant Commissioners. In the second place, when the number of applications in a particular district becomes reduced, it is plainly advisable to move the Assistant Commissioners to districts where a large number of cases remain to be heard. The result must involve a removal of Assistant Commissioners and a readjustment of Sub-Commissions.

Apart from these causes, and apart from exceptional circumstances of a personal nature which occasionally arise, the Commissioners are slow to move Assistant Commissioners from a district in which they have acquired local experience, and it is contrary to their ordinary practice to do so.

IV.

Report, Par. 9.

"It is also desired, and your Committee think with good reason, that the Sub-Commissioners should sit in a greater number of places, and in fact wherever there is a Petty Sessions Court, and thus save a great loss of money and time at present incurred. (Baldwin, 1165–1176). Complaint is also made of the want of regularity of some of the courts in country places in observing the hours appointed for their sittings. (Chambre, 1666–1670)."

The Assistant-Commissioners have the right, and it is their duty to sit in as many places within the district allotted to them, as they may find convenient to the parties. They may, should they so deem fit, sit in every Petty Sessions Court-house. For the general purposes of administration, and especially for the purposes of office registry and statistics, the Commissioners selected for their areas Poor Law Unions and Electoral Divisions, preserving also, except in a few cases, the limit of Counties. Petty Sessions Districts are not coterminous with either Unions or Electoral Divisions. The lists of cases furnished to the Sub-Commissions are arranged according to Electoral Divisions, and this is done for the very purpose of enabling the Sub-Commission at its first sitting, within each Union, to arrange the list of cases, so as to avoid loss of time and expense, by grouping together and hearing the cases coming from one locality.

Upon these questions of detail the Commissioners would remark as follows. There can be no settled rules of practice from the observance of which occasional inconvenience may not arise. The question must always be, what course of procedure on the whole works best. The Commissioners can have had no motive in settling their present practice except the desire to administer the statute committed to them with as much justice and convenience to both parties as practicable, and they have never been slow to change their practice in any particulars in which they were convinced it could be changed for the better, but no system could be worked if it were to be condemned merely because certain inconveniences are paraded by witnesses in an exaggerated way, and without any correcting considerations on the other side.

V.

Report, Par. 10.

"The Committee cannot but look with great regret upon the course adopted in settling judicial rents under the Act. This duty, the most important, and at the same time the most difficult to be discharged under the Act, was in the first instance assigned by Parliament to the three Commissioners named in the Act, whose names and standing were stated to be a sufficient guarantee that the duty would be effectively and impartially discharged. The Commissioners, however, proceeded to delegate the whole of this duty to the Sub-Commissioners appointed under the Act, who now number 85."

By the 43rd section of the Act the Land Commission was empowered to form Sub-Commissions, and to delegate to them such of the powers (except as to appeals) conferred upon the Land Commission as they might think expedient. It is apparently complained of that the Commissioners delegated the whole of the duty of settling judicial rents to the Sub-Commissioners by their order of delegation. It is not suggested, even remotely, how it would be possible to delegate this power in part and not wholly. The Act contemplated the delegation of the powers of the Commissioners to the Sub-Commissioners; and what exception or reservation could have been made (except the statutable reservation of appeals) the Commissioners cannot even conjecture.

VI.

"And they made this delegation without having themselves heard any of the cases in the first instance, in the course of which hearing they might have enunciated some general principles to be followed, or established some precedents to serve as examples." Report, Par. 10.

The Commissioners were all examined by the Committee, and were not asked a question on this subject. If they had been so asked they would have stated as follows. When the Land Commissioners, after having in a space of less than two months completed the task of framing their rules and forming and organizing their staff, were approaching their practical work in the month of October, 1881, it was announced publicly by the leading members of the Land League that they would select certain cases which they termed test cases, and bring them into Court in order to ascertain practically in what manner the statute would be carried into effect. Being selected as test cases it was to be presumed that they would present some features the decisions upon which might govern many others. The Commissioners, therefore, resolved to sit and hear them in person. But before the opportunity arose the Land League was declared illegal, and the intention of bringing forward the test cases in question was abandoned. The cases first coming into Court had no special character. They were ordinary cases, small in area and value. The Commissioners considered that no useful purpose could be served by hearing these cases themselves, especially as if they had done so there could be no re-hearing under the statute. The resolution to allow cases which were not other than ordinary cases to proceed in the ordinary way, was not come to without grave consideration, and now, after the lapse of two years, the Commissioners are convinced they were right in point of judgment.

VII.

"And without having laid down any code of instructions or any general principles according to which the Sub-Commissioners should act. Some at least of the Sub-Commissioners were desirous of receiving such instructions, and one of them—Professor Baldwin—states that he thought at the time 'it was a frightful thing to let them loose on the property of landlords and tenants without any instructions.'" Report, Par. 10.

The Commissioners gave no instructions on this subject to the Assistant-Commissioners, and to this moment they are absolutely at a loss to conceive what instructions they could legally have given beyond reading to them the terms of the Act of Parliament. The Legislature abstained from embodying any definition of a fair rent in the Act. It declared that the Court should have regard to the interest of the landlord and tenant respectively, and to the circumstances of the case, holding, and district. Further enactments are contained in the succeeding sub-sections of the eighth section. What power or right had the Commissioners to add to the statute by laying down extrajudicially principles, general or special, according to which the Assistant-Commissioners were to act in their judicial capacity? If they had attempted to do so, they might have been most justly accused of directing a Court of first instance, how to arrive at decisions which afterwards might come before the Commissioners themselves as an Appellate Tribunal.

It has been entirely left out of sight, in the proceedings of their Lordships' Committee, that the Land Commission does not form the sole Court for the fixing of fair rents. The Tribunal first named in the statute is the Civil Bill Court. Can it be asserted that the Land Commissioners should have laid down a code of instructions or general principles, according to which the Judges of the Civil Bill Courts were to act in fixing fair rents? Such an attempt would have been properly treated as ridiculous by the eminent Judges in question. A Sub-Commission once constituted and empowered to hear cases, pursuant to the statute, is as independent and as free from any control of the Commissioners over its decisions (save on rehearing) as the County Court.

VIII.

"Specific questions were put to the Commissioners as to the manner in which the Sub-Commissioners should act, but were not answered." Report, Par. 10.

The only witness who deposes to these specific questions is Mr. Baldwin. The Commissioners have no recollection of the questions having been asked, but they do not dispute Mr. Baldwin's statement. "The first question was how we were to deal with the Healy clause. I saw that with that clause the duty would be very difficult and most important, and the difficulty was realised when the case of Adams v. Dunseath cropped up." (Baldwin, 1033). The Commissioners deem it right, in the first place, to make the following observation:—They are an administrative as well as a judicial body, and it is their right and duty to direct in what way in point of procedure the Act should be administered. When, therefore, the Commissioners are assailed for not having given instructions to the Assistant-Commissioners, it is quite possible that the ground might be shifted, and it might be asserted that the fault lay in not giving them instructions in point of mere procedure. But this question of Mr. Baldwin puts the matter beyond the possibility of a doubt. The complaint made by him, and now adopted and enforced by the Committee of the House of Lords, is this: That the Commissioners upon a legal question of the utmost difficulty and complexity, a question so difficult, that the Court of Appeal in Ireland, after the fullest and most elaborate argument, were unable to concur in an unanimous opinion, and only decided by a majority; that upon such a question, the Commissioners did not in the first instance, before the matter had arisen for decision, without having litigants before them, or hearing argument on either side, instruct the Assistant-Commissioners in the interpretation of the statute. To have done so would, in their opinion, have been grossly culpable. That the witness, who is not a lawyer, should make this complaint does not surprise the Commissioners, but that it should have received the sanction of such a body as the Committee of the House of Lords, is a thing they would not have deemed possible until they read the Report.

According to Mr. Baldwin, his second question was, whether the Ulster Tenant Right was to be brought in as an element, or rather a factor in the determination of the rent. This also was a question of law not to be decided until it arose for decision. The third was, "whether it was meant that the Act should apply to all estates, and that we should be turned into a Court of Valuation, or whether any class or classes of farms and estates, would be excluded from the operation of the Act; whether, for instance, rents, dating from a certain point, should be excluded, in other words, whether any farm would be excluded and for what."

A simple perusal of the Act would show that, as to estates, no class of estates was excepted on the ground of the rents dating from a certain period. Several classes of holdings are excepted in terms from the Act. No instruction could possibly be given on this point beyond repeating the words of the statute. Whether in any particular instance a holding came within the exception must of course await the evidence and argument in each case.

IX.

> "The result has been that which under the circumstances might naturally have been expected. The various Sub-Commissions throughout the country laid down no principles upon which they proposed to act. They have not in their judgments explained the grounds on which they have acted. There has been an absence of anything approaching to uniformity between the decisions of the different Sub-Commissions, and the decisions of the same Sub-Commission have frequently been inconsistent with each other (Smith, 427). No statement has been made as to the method by which the judicial rent has been arrived at, and no explanation has been given of the manner in which improvements made by the tenant have been dealt with or estimated, as affecting what otherwise would be the fair value of the land—(Atkinson, 4499—4504; Holmes, 96, 114, 117—121; Reeves, 207—210; Foley, 700—701, 712—718, 741—749, 801—803, 812—819; Smith, 412—414; Wright, 1565—1568, 1595—1600.) It has been impossible to ascertain in what manner the Sub-Commissioners, in holdings subject to the custom of Ulster, have treated improvements; whether they held the tenant-right to include all improvements; or whether they estimated their value separately—(Smith, 370—381). The same Sub-Commission, differently constituted as regards its members, has reduced two sets of farms, adjacent and similarly circumstanced and rented, the one by 16 per cent., and the other by 30 per cent.—(Greer, 7272—7276)."

If the result of the absence of extrajudicial instructions by the Commissioners to the Assistant Commissioners as to the decisions to be made by them in the performance of their judicial duties were all that is here detailed, it would not alter the view of the Commissioners, for no consideration of the results should make them adopt a course which they believe to be wrong in itself. But the entire statement is a misconception. It is not the case that the Assistant-Commissioners have laid down no principles on which they proposed to act, or that they have not in their judgments explained the grounds on which they have acted. On the contrary, whenever a question of principle arises—for instance, a question whether a holding is or not within the statute; whether certain improvements are to be allowed for or not; whether improvements were made by the tenant's predecessors in title, and, in all similar questions either of law or mixed law and fact, the legal Sub-Commissioners, as a rule, deliver the judgment of the Court; and such judgments, given with care and attention, are daily to be seen in the public journals.

But the Commissioners would infer that it is not upon questions of this kind that want of principle is complained of, but the Courts are accused of not having stated the principle by which the letting value of the holding is arrived at. Now, there are no doubt, several circumstances which ought always to be taken into account, such as the price of produce, the proximity to markets and railways, and other circumstances to be found in text books on the subject, which are for the most part elementary and undisputed. But as to what lies behind all these, namely, the value of the land judged of by the quality of the soil, the Commissioners are bound to say they have never been able to discover anything by which a Court could properly be guided other than the knowledge and experience of skilled men. They have had before them valuers of land of the greatest eminence, examined on the part of the landlords, and none of these gentlemen has ever laid down a rule generally applicable for determining the value of land. Moreover, it might, one would think, have been expected that when this requisition for a principle or canon for estimating the value of land was made so loudly, some attempt might have been made to supply the defect, and to state what the principles were which should have been thus laid down. The Commissioners have sought in vain in the pages of the Evidence and Report for the statement of any such principle.

It is also complained of that the decisions do not show the exact deductions which have been made from what would otherwise be the fair rent on account of the tenant's improvements. No doubt it would be possible to make a specific statement of that nature. The Commissioners require that in every case the Sub-Commissioners should make a minute of the improvements taken into consideration. But as to a statement of the money-value of the improvements, the rate per cent. calculated upon such money-value, and the specific deductions on that account from what would otherwise be the fair rent, the Commissioners openly informed the Committee that they had given that question the most anxious consideration, and had come to the conclusion that it would be an unwise step, and likely to tend to discontent and litigation. Such is still their deliberate opinion.

X.

> "By this want of uniformity in the decisions, and the impossibility of ascertaining any principle upon which the valuation has proceeded, there has been interposed the most serious difficulty in the way of making, out of Court, those amicable arrangements which it is so much for the benefit of the landlord and tenant to encourage, while, on the other hand, it is the opinion of those well acquainted with the feeling of the tenants, that the wide difference in the decisions will engender a fresh crop of discontent among those who consider that terms less favourable have been awarded to them than to their neighbours. (Holmes, 42–44; Smith, 427–431, 617 and 618; Chambre, 1704; Baldwin, 1023–1025, 1157–1160.)" Report, Par. 12.

It appears strange that in a matter involving so many diverse conditions and circumstances, uniformity in the decisions of the Sub-Commissions should have been expected; but the Commissioners cannot admit that by any such want of uniformity there has been interposed any difficulty in the way of making out of Court amicable arrangements between landlords and tenants. The fact that up to the end of June no less than 40,284 agreements entered into out of Court have been registered in the office of the Commission, disproves the conclusion attempted to be drawn; and the Commissioners have reason to believe that amicable arrangements, to a very large extent indeed, have been made in cases entirely outside the action or cognizance of the Commission, and that these settlements have been to a large extent brought about by the judicial decisions fixing fair rents.

XI.

Report, Par. 13.

"The Committee have endeavoured to ascertain from the Commissioners and from such Sub-Commissioners and persons conversant with the proceedings in the Land Courts as they have examined, whether any insight could be obtained into the principles upon which the valuation of land in Ireland under the Land Act has been and is now proceeding, but they have not succeeded in doing so, and it does not appear that those who practise in the Courts of the Sub-Commissioners have been able to form any conception of the nature of these principles, if they exist."

In addition to what has been said before on this point of the discovery of a principle for valuing land, the Commissioners would refer to Mr. Baldwin, upon whose evidence so much stress has been laid by the Committee, and who was himself asked to supply the principles for which he craved so strongly. We call attention to the question and answer :—

"Q. 1,006. Can you put at all into words the principles that have guided you in the performance of that function, that is to say, in the valuing of the land. What did you consider to be the value of the land, and how did you get at it— speaking only of course for yourself?"

"Speaking for myself, I have been guided by two principles, and have used one to check the other. The first principle is this : I happened to have had experience of almost every large estate in Ireland, and I had for years educated myself from personal inspection of farms on these estates what the fair rent would be. The second principle I was guided by is, that I had large experience of the cropping and working of land in several of the counties of Ireland, and from the data thus acquired I was able to draw up for my own guidance certain rules.

"It will thus be seen that the principles which guide Mr. Baldwin in arriving at the letting value are derived from his personal experience and skill. These accomplishments of course, render him more fit to discharge his duties as Assistant-Commissioner, but how they could be communicated to others in the form of principles the Commissioners fail to see. It may be quite true, as Mr. Baldwin says, that "the principles are laid down in a standard work," but the Commissioners conceive it to be in accordance with the procedure of Courts of Justice, to take the materials for decision from the lips of experts rather than from books."

XII.

Report, Par. 14.

"It would appear that the reductions have sometimes been the greatest where the improvements of the tenants were the least (Bird, 4679 : King-Harman, 7364–7366). The improvements, indeed, seem to have been dealt with in the most haphazard and irregular manner, and the evidence received with regard to their existence, state of repair, and value, to have been of the most unsatisfactory description (Gray, 1974–1978, 1982–1983, 2001–2005, 2036–2041)."

It is of course perfectly possible that reductions may have been sometimes the greatest where the improvements of the tenants were the least. The Commissioners cannot enter into any discussion as to the propriety of judicial decisions, but they may remark that it is possible that in some cases the former rents may have weighed heaviest upon tenants whose poverty debarred them from improving. As to the haphazard and irregular manner with which it is said the improvements have been dealt with, the Commissioners observe that the Committee rely upon the evidence of Mr. Wm. H. Gray, who was attached as a valuer to one of the Sub-Commissions during the time that system was adopted, but whose evidence they have not till this moment had an opportunity of seeing. This gentleman will not, they trust, through identity in sound of the name, be confounded with Mr. Charles Grey Grey, of Dilston, the head of the staff of valuers who value for the Commissioners, on re-hearings ; neither he nor any one of his most competent staff was examined or summoned by the Committee.

XIII.

Report, Par. 15.

"Little or no difference appears to have been made whether the rent was an old rent and regularly paid for a number of years, or whether it was a modern rent ; (Bird, 4693 ; Hussey, 5492 ; Kennedy, 6581 ; Holmes, 111 ; Foley, 762–764 ; Wright, 1606–1610.) The 'Sub-Commissioners,' says one of the witnesses, 'seem to be under the impression that their mission is to reduce rent. I think the principle is to give a reduction varying from 25 to 40 per cent.' (Johnston, 6472). One of the official valuers himself states, in his evidence, 'In every case that goes into Court, whether right or wrong, the tenant gets more or less, from what I have seen. (Q.) He always gets a reduction or almost always? Almost always, except that there might be one case out of twenty or ten on a property in which he would not get a reduction.' (Gray, 1990–1991. See also the O'Conor Don, 2101). The same official valuer who was employed by several Sub-Commissioners, states, that he was in the habit of deducting an arbitrary sum of about 15 per cent. from the letting value to represent the tenant's right of occupation (Gray, 1970–1972). In other words, the occupation having been obtained by the tenant upon a contract to pay a certain sum as rent, his occupation was then treated as an asset of his own, to be set against and applied in reduction of the rent which he had agreed to pay." Report, Par. 15.

The Commissioners have laid down in the clearest and most unmistakable language on repeated occasions, that the regular payment of an old rent for a number of years was prima facie evidence that it was a fair rent. It is prima facie evidence, but not conclusive. They have no reason to believe that the Sub-Commissions have ever departed from this principle. The evidence may show that the old rent so paid never was a fair one, or it may show a change of circumstances which would render what was once a fair rent no longer so. As to the statement of Mr. Gray, that he was in the habit of deducting about fifteen per cent. from the letting value, to represent the tenant's right of occupation, the Commissioners can only say that they appointed Mr. Gray upon the evidence of what they deemed satisfactory testimonials, as well as upon his own oral statement of his qualifications; that not only this principle of deducting fifteen per cent. did not emanate from any instruction given to him by the Commissioners, or by any Sub-Commission to which he was attached, but that it was never communicated to them, and was reserved to be stated after he had ceased to hold his office, in order to form an item in a concerted attack upon others in no way responsible for his methods. The Commissioners have looked into a number of Mr. Gray's reports, and in none of them have they been able to find any reference to this alleged deduction of fifteen per cent.

XIV.

"There appears to be strong ground for believing that in many cases where the land has been deteriorated by the act of the tenant, he has had the benefit of his own wrong, and the land has been valued in the condition in which it stood, and not according to what would have been its value if properly cultivated (Dunwoody, 5878–5889, Gubbins, 6764—6767, Wright, 1581, 1622, 1623, 1634.)" Report, Par. 16.

The Commissioners absolutely refuse to believe in the truth of this statement. They have themselves laid down, in the plainest words, that no tenant should be allowed to profit by his own wrong, and that if he had deteriorated his farm, the farm should be valued, not in its deteriorated condition, but in the condition in which it would have stood if properly treated. They never heard this principle contested, and they have no reason whatever to believe that any Sub-Commission has departed from it, or given any tenant the benefit of his own deterioration.

XV.

"Your Committee have had laid before them a considerable amount of evidence, from which they think there is much reason to conclude that in some of the Sub-Commissions where reductions have been largest, a simple arithmetical process has been adopted for reducing the rents by adding two, three, or four varying estimates of the value together, and dividing by the number of such estimates. Examples of this will be found in the Evidence and Appendices (Smith, 394–397, 415–421, 442–446, 448–452, 1835–1842; Baldwin, 1189–1196, 1348–1351, and 1358; Gray, 1872–1878). This proceeding, if it has really been followed, involves a grave dereliction of duty on the part of the Sub-Commissioners, and is unjust both to landlord and tenant." Report, Par. 17.

This imputation, directed in paragraph 17 against the Assistant Commissioners, is repeated in paragraph 28 against the Commissioners themselves. It involves a grave accusation of judicial misconduct. It is absolutely untrue as regards themselves, and they believe it to be equally untrue as regards the Sub-Commissioners. They have communicated with the several gentlemen who have been assailed on this ground, by Mr. Smith and Mr. Baldwin, and they have received from the Assistant Commissioners in question, the strongest assurances that they have never acted in the manner asserted. Where a number of distinct valuations are made of the same subject-matter, it must happen in many cases that one of such valuations may form, at least approximately, a mean between the others. It seems absurd to say that the result must have been arrived at by a simple process of computation. Upon this point the Commissioners desire to make the following observations:

1. In the several cases given in the paper entered by Mr. Smith, Appendix pp. 190–192, the judicial rent is not the exact mean of the several valuations, but differs from it generally by some shillings and pence. The accusation, therefore, is not merely of having been guilty of the judicial misbehaviour of arriving at their decision in that way, but of the further offence of attempting to disguise and conceal the mode by which their decisions were arrived at. This charge of misconduct and fraud has been brought by Mr. Smith against Messrs. Fitzgerald, Comyn, and Mahony; against Messrs. Wylie, Cunningham, and Ellis; against Messrs. Foley, Davidson, and Meek; and against the Sub-Commission of which Mr. Baldwin was a member. With the exception of Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Foley, none of those gentlemen has been summoned before the Committee.

2. Mr. Baldwin was examined a week after Mr. Smith. He was questioned on this subject of deciding by means of a formula or average (1189). He answered first by referring to a County Court Judge, who it appeared to him adopted that method, and then (1195) after saying that his Sub-Commission had not adopted it, and that he could say that no Sub-Commissioner with whom he had been associated had done so, he said he was bound to add, that he could see indications of its having been adopted, and of rents being fixed by some arithmetical process of the kind; and he says (1213) that it was chiefly in the North that he perceived this process of pursuing a formula.

Now, in justice both to Mr. Baldwin himself, and to the gentlemen whom Mr. Smith and Mr. Baldwin accused, it might have been expected that Mr. Baldwin should have been informed that he himself was one of the persons accused by Mr. Smith of having come to his conclusions by formula, and should have been called upon for an explanation. Not one word was said to him upon the subject.

Again, Mr. Foley, Q.C., is the legal member of a Sub-Commission against which the same charge was made by Mr. Smith. He also was examined subsequently to Mr. Smith, and was not asked for any explanation on the subject of so grave a charge.

3. With respect to the Commissioners themselves, Mr. Baldwin's ground for charging them with proceeding upon a formula is this (1209); "inasmuch as they do not visit the land, I take it they must have a formula of some kind." Upon such reasoning the Commissioners make no comment.

XVI.

Report, Par. 18.

> "The judicial settlement of rents under the Land Act was recommended to Parliament mainly to meet the cases said to be comparatively rare and exceptional in which land was over-rented or rack-rented in Ireland; but it would seem that in the arbitrary process of reduction which has been adopted, a landlord who has unduly raised the rent of his land fares the best, for the reductions do not as a rule appear to be sensibly greater on estates high-rented, than on estates low-rented (Atkinson, 4613; Bird, 4694; Belmore, 4913; Thompson, 5233–5235; Johnston, 6473–6474). Reductions varying from 22 per cent. to 33 per cent. and upwards, have been made on several of the oldest and best managed family estates in Ireland (Hayes, 5388; Dunwoody, 5966; O'Callaghan, 6867; King-Harman, 7361; Foley, 823–829; Baldwin, 1260–1270."

It is exceedingly difficult to deal with general statements of this kind. They amount to an accusation of having made reductions of rent as great where the previous rent was moderate as where it was excessive. That is to say, it is an accusation of having discharged the duty cast upon them unfairly and unjustly. How is a charge of this kind to be refuted except by re-trying each particular case? The Commissioners conceived it to be a settled principle that the justice or propriety of judicial decisions should not be made the subject of Parliamentary inquiry. This has been laid down in both Houses of Parliament on several occasions since the passing of the Land Act of 1881; and the Commissioners will never be parties to a departure from it. If the statement had been merely made by the witnesses, the Commissioners would have passed it over in silence. But they must express their surprise that such a body as the Select Committee should have so entirely departed from it, as not only to accept, but to repeat, aspersions upon the action of a judicial body—aspersions, the untruth of which, those who are so calumniated are debarred by constitutional principle from showing.

XVII.

"The dangers incident to the appointment of a number of Sub-Commissioners, with jurisdiction practically amounting to a power of transferring property from one person to another, were supposed to be counterbalanced by the circumstance that each Sub-Commission would have as its President a skilled and experienced lawyer, whose training and professional reputation and standing would be a guarantee that the vast powers of a Sub-Commission in settling rents would be exercised in an impartial and judicial spirit. Few or no questions of law are now, owing to the mode of procedure of the Sub-Commissioners, raised before them, and their great and continuous work is that of settling judicial rents. In this work the legal Sub-Commissioner appears to take no part. The legal Sub-Commissioner is, in the language of Professor Baldwin, reduced, so far, to the position of a cipher. He takes no part himself in the valuation of the land, he is ignorant of the principles upon which it is valued by his colleagues, and he has no means of knowing in what way they apply the law to the facts of the case, or whether they apply it correctly. (Baldwin 1143, 1325, 6; see also Atkinson, 4525; Reeves, 144–151, 236, 237, 240, 241; Smith, 464.) It would appear doubtful whether the Commissioners are aware that this is the position of the legal Sub-Commissioners, for Mr. Justice O'Hagan states that 'all the Sub-Commissioners are judges, and all of them must hear the evidence and decide upon it' (3777); whereas Mr. Litton, in answer to the question (3400), 'Then I suppose the legal Sub-Commissioner does not attempt to form an opinion upon the farm,' replies, 'Not upon the question of the value of the land; and in answer to the question (3401), 'So that it is entirely handed over to the two lay Commissioners,' replies, 'It is; upon that technical point;' but inasmuch as Mr. Foley, one of the legal Sub-Commissioners, states (375–377, 995–998) that he was told by Mr. Forster (when Chief Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant), on his appointment as legal Sub-Commissioner, that he would not be expected to value the land, it must be taken that the latter is the correct view of the legal Sub-Commissioners' duty." Report, Par. 19.

Throughout this paragraph there runs an ambiguity calculated to be extremely misleading. The state of the case is simply this: The Sub-Commission consists of a legal President, with colleagues appointed for their practical acquaintance with the value of land in Ireland. The legal Commissioner sits in Court with two of his colleagues, hears the evidence, and is a party to the decision. All the Assistant-Commissioners by whom a particular case is tried, are Judges; all of them hear the evidence and decide upon it. But the rules very properly require that the holding should be visited by one or more of the members of a Sub-Commission, in every case in which they think that such inspection will conduce to the interests of justice. This duty of visiting the farm is, as a rule, performed by two of the lay Assistant-Commissioners, who are by experience and training suited to it. If by the statement that the legal Assistant-Commissioner "takes no part in valuing," is meant merely that he does not as a rule go out upon the land to judge of it from his own experience, it is true. If it be meant that "in the work of settling judicial rents he takes no part," the Commissioners absolutely deny that it is so, and they say that any legal Assistant-Commissioner would seriously mistake his duty who took this view of it. It is sought to contrast the evidence of Mr. Justice O'Hagan with that of Mr. Litton, as regards this question. Mr. Litton never stated or meant to convey that the legal Assistant-Commissioner was not to form an opinion upon the whole of the case, and be a party to the decision, He spoke merely of the technical point of forming an opinion of the value of the land by personal inspection, and does not in the least differ from the statement made by Mr. Justice O'Hagan.

As a matter of course the legal Commissioner must, as regards the value of the land, be largely dependent upon his colleagues who are acquainted with the value of land, and who have inspected the farm. But to say he therefore takes no part in the settlement of judicial rents is an unwarranted inference.

Turning from this question of ambiguous language to the substance of the matter, the Commissioners would ask by what better method than the present could the function of settling fair rents by a tribunal be carried out? If there be a better way it has not been suggested by the Committee, nor, so far as they are acquainted with the evidence, by any of the witnesses.

XVIII.

"Much dissatisfaction appears to be felt as to the manner in which these valuations take place. The rapidity with which the valuation is made is stated to be incompatible with any adequate examination of the land. (Gray, 1959–1963; Smith, 5988.) The lands have frequently been visited at a time when, by reason of weather or floods, no proper inspection could be made. (Bird, 4681, 2; Sankey, 6339–6347.)" Report, Par. 20.

As to the alleged rapidity of the valuation, or the visiting of the lands in weather when no proper inspection could be made, the Commissioners can only say, that in any case in which definite causes of complaint as to the practice or procedure of the Assistant-Commissioners were brought under their notice, they would not fail to inquire into the matter, and if necessary make rules for amending the procedure.

XIX.

Report, Par. 19.

> "Formal evidence is given in Court, but much is or may be afterwards said upon the ground in the way of statement and assertion unaccompanied by any of the checks under which evidence is given. (Bird, 4788–4796.)"

The Assistant Commissioners ought not to hear any statements in the way of evidence on the lands, and in fact do not. They are accompanied by the tenant and by the agent, or some other person representing the landlord, and this is quite right, with a view to the proper inspection of the locality. As to what "is, or may be," said in the way of statement or assertion, the Assistant Commissioners are bound to pay no regard to any statement not verified on oath in Court. The very language of the Committee shows how conjectural and indeterminate is this accusation.

XX.

Report, Par. 20.

> "This is the more open to objection, because no map or plan is produced giving a proper delineation and measurement of the farm to serve as a guide for the Valuers or Sub-Commissioners when they go upon the land, and without which map or plan no valuation can be safely or effectively made. (Baldwin, 1096–1124; Gray, 1967, 1968, 2040, 1.)"

If by Valuers are meant the gentlemen who value for the Land Commission on appeal, the statement is incorrect; they are always in fact furnished with a map of the holding. To have required as a matter of necessity a map to be supplied in the first instance with each originating notice to fix a fair rent, would have had the practical effect of excluding a large proportion of the poorer class of tenants from the benefit of the Act. But by a rule of the Commissioners, published so far back as May, 1882, it was provided that either landlord or tenant might produce before the Sub-Commission, and have filed with the other documents, a map or plan of the holding. In the printed notices of hearing before the Sub-Commission, there is contained the following paragraph: "Parties are requested to produce, on the hearing of their cases, a copy of the Ordnance sheet, showing the holding;" and this is in fact done in a great number of cases, though the parties have not required the map to be filed with the other documents. A party cannot reasonably complain of his case being tried without a map when the omission to produce one has been through his own default.

XXI.

Report, Par. 21.

> "Complaint is also made that there is no sufficient record showing what improvements have been proved to have been made by the tenant, and have been allowed for as affecting the rent. The Committee in their first report expressed an opinion that some record should be made of such tenant's improvements as were proved in evidence; and, they stated that they had heard with satisfaction that the Commissioners had, since the commencement of the inquiry, adopted a rule for the purpose of meeting this complaint, and that the Sub-Commissioners would henceforward be required to specify the improvements made by the tenant. The Committee regret to find from the evidence of Mr. Baldwin (1084–1096), that the form adopted by the Commissioners in order to meet this complaint has proved useless, and they must express again their strong opinion that the respective interests of landlord and tenant cannot be properly dealt with, and the settlement of judicial rents cannot be placed upon a satisfactory basis, unless there is made and preserved a distinct specification of the improvements established by the evidence, and of the value assigned to them in the settlement of rent."

It is quite true that the Commissioners have adopted a rule requiring the Sub-Commissioners to specify the improvements proved before them, both by the tenant and the landlord. It is not the case that the form adopted by the Commissioners for this purpose has proved useless; but it is the fact that in many instances the improvements have been imperfectly specified. The Commissioners have deemed it their duty in some instances to call the attention of the members of the Sub-Commission to the inadequate filling up of the schedules in this respect, in order that this duty may in all cases be properly discharged. On the subject of inserting, in addition to the specification of the improvements, the value assigned to them in the settlement of rent, the Commissioners have already stated their opinion, in their observations on paragraph 11 of the Report, and they must act on that opinion so long as the decision on the subject rests with them.

XXII.

"The Committee must also repeat what was in substance stated by them in their first Report, that, next to the publicity of the proceedings in Courts of Justice, they consider the greatest security for justice being done lies in the rule being adhered to that the Judge should state the reasons for his decision. They concur in the statement of one of the witnesses before them (Bird, 4697)—'I see no reason why a Court of this sort should not follow the example of every other Court. There seems to be no reason why it should not state the gross yearly value of the land; whether the land has been deteriorated, and whether they have allowed for that; or whether it has been improved, and how much they have allowed for that. Then the landlord can say either that he is discontented with the gross amount of rent, or that he is satisfied with it, but that he thinks the reduction for improvements too great, or the allowance for deterioration too small.'" Report Par. 22.

The point dealt with here, is one which affects the Commissioners equally with the Assistant Commissioners—the practice of both in this respect being substantially the same.

When any question of principle is involved, it is the practice of both tribunals that a judgment should be delivered, stating the reasons for the decision. But upon the mere question of determining, in ordinary cases, the amount of the judicial rent, it is not, in the opinion of the Commissioners, required either by the reason of the thing, or by judicial precedent, that the reasons for the decisions should be set forth. The Commissioners would not assert that the inconvenience arising from the loss of time occupied in giving a formal judgment in each particular case, and the very great delay which would inevitably ensue in getting through so large a number of cases, should form an answer to the requirements of justice. But the fixing of a fair rent is, in the opinion of the Commissioners, what is commonly termed a jury question. The interests of the landlord and of the tenant, the circumstances of the case, holding, and district, must be all taken into consideration. The fair rent fixed expresses the conclusion of the Court, from the evidence upon all these elements, combined with the personal inspection of the holding in the case of a Sub-Commission, and the report of the official valuer, in the case of the Commissioners on a re-hearing. The Commissioners do not conceive that it was the intention of the Legislature, in enacting the 8th section, to require as a rule (and apart they repeat from cases where matters of principle are involved) that the Court should, in each individual case, give reasons for the result arrived at. This they would observe is a quite different question from that of preserving a record of the improvements taken into consideration, with which they have already dealt.

XXIII.

"There is little doubt that the strong impression prevails in the country that where Sub-Commissioners have not reduced rents to the point to which they have been reduced by other Sub-Commissioners, and have thereby become unpopular in a particular district, they have been removed to other districts, and that those changes have led to greater reductions (Johnston, 6479; Smith, 422, 3; Holmes, 29–32; Chambre, 1787, 8, 9; Gray, 1885–1887, 1992–8). The mere existence of such a feeling is, in the highest degree, unfortunate, and it is much to be regretted that anything should have been done to give rise to it." Report Par. 9.

The imputation insinuated, if not asserted in this paragraph, is, that where Sub-Commissioners have not reduced rents to the point to which they have been reduced by other Sub-Commissioners, they have been removed to other districts. The Report expresses the regret of the Committee that anything should have been done to give rise to what they are pleased to call, the existence of a strong impression on this subject. Their Lordships regard the expression of opinion of the witnesses referred to as sufficient to justify a conclusion which has no foundation in fact, and which the Commissioners take this opportunity of denying in the most emphatic terms.

XXIV.

"The Land Act gave to any person aggrieved by any order of a Sub-Commission a right to have his case reheard by the Head Commissioners. This right of appeal would be naturally expected to afford to all parties the opportunity of securing from a superior court a fresh and unprejudiced hearing of any case in which the inferior court was supposed to have miscarried. The Committee will proceed to consider whether in the working of the Act with regard to appeals this expectation has been answered." Report Par. 24.

This paragraph does not call for any remark.

XXV.

Report, Par. 25.

> "The Commissioners do not themselves visit or value any farm. They are provided with official valuers, one of whom inspects the farm which is the subject of appeal, and makes a report upon its value to the Commissioners. The Commissioners have this report before them, and where the re-hearing is conducted in regular course, they proceed with this report before them to receive the evidence in Court tendered on either side, and after the evidence is closed the report is communicated to the parties, but the parties are not allowed to cross-examine the valuer upon it, or to re-open the evidence. The procedure of the Commissioners may, therefore, be described as exactly the converse of that of the Sub-Commissioners. The Sub-Commissioners, in the first instance, profess to hear in Court all the evidence which is adduced, and then the two non-legal Sub-Commissioners, having heard the evidence, go upon the land, and apply to that which they see upon the land the evidence which they have already taken and sifted, and thus form their opinion as to the value. The Commissioners, on the other hand, send in the first instance a valuer on to the holding, who, without hearing any legal evidence, places a value upon it, and reports it to the Commissioners, and any evidence which the Commissioners may hear is heard after, and not before, the valuation thus arrived at."

The Commissioners desire to state simply the facts with respect to the official valuers here referred to. The statute gives to any party aggrieved by the decision of one Commissioner, or of a Sub-Commission, the right to have his case re-heard by three Commissioners sitting together. Upon such re-hearing the Commissioners are bound to hear the evidence, as to facts and as to value, adduced by both tenant and landlord, and they do so. But as it would be physically impossible, having regard to the very great number of the cases, for the Commissioners to visit in person the holdings which are the subject of the re-hearings, the result would be that one of the most important elements in the decision of the Court below, namely, the personal inspection of the farm by persons having a practical acquaintance with the value of land in Ireland, would be wanting on the re-hearing, if it were not that the statute itself points out the means of supplying this deficiency. By the 37th Section of the Act the Court is empowered to direct an independent valuer to report his opinion upon any matter the Court may desire to refer to him, with the proviso that the Court may or may not adopt the report of such valuer. The Commissioners conceived, that instead of relying on the chance of finding upon each re-hearing some local valuer to make a report for them, it would be better to have valuers of undisputed character and position attached permanently to the Court. As the chief of these valuers, they selected Mr. Charles Grey Grey, of Dilston, in Northumberland, who had been for thirty years the agent on Lord Derby's estate in Ireland, who from that position, as well as from having largely farmed land in Ireland, had acquired a great experience of the letting value of land in this country, and whose ability and integrity are acknowledged by everyone. With him there were from time to time associated other gentlemen, selected by the Commissioners after careful inquiry. They are at present as follows:—Mr. Robert Bell, Mr. T. W. Russell, Mr. Robert Murray, Mr. John D. Bell, Mr. J. H. Swiney, Mr. George M'Elroy, Mr. Jonathan Haughton, Mr. Thomas Roberts, Mr. Bernard Hayden, and Mr. Benjamin Roberts

Of these gentlemen, who are generally known as the Court Valuers, the Commissioners only say, that they have never wavered in their belief in their capacity and fairness. So soon as a requisition for a re-hearing is lodged by either party, the rules of the Commissioners require that there should be lodged with it a map (being a sheet of the map of the Ordnance Survey), showing the holding with the boundaries clearly traced. This map is sent to the Court Valuers for their guidance. One of the Court Valuers proceeds to the lands, and, after a careful inspection, makes a report pursuant to a form framed by the Commissioners. This form of report has met with the approval of the Chairman of the Committee of the House of Lords. In many cases two of the valuers visit and report upon the holding. The report of the valuer is, as a rule, based on the fair letting value of the holding in its actual condition, excluding buildings.

Judge O'Hagan's evidence (3753).

They also report upon the visible improvements, and sometimes, but not always, state the amount to which, in their opinion, those improvements have added to the letting value of the lands. It is the duty of the Commissioners to decide upon all the evidence and with the assistance of the Report, what is the fair rent of the holding, taking into account the improvements made by both landlord and tenant, and having regard to the terms of the statute, and the interpretation put upon it by the Court of Appeal in Ireland.

When the first rehearings took place in Belfast, it was a question for serious consideration whether the "report of the independent valuer" was intended by the statute to be a confidential document for the use of the Court alone, or whether it was to be communicated to the parties and commented on by the advocates. After hearing argument on the subject the Commissioners decided that the document should be communicated. The question then arose at what period of the case the Report should be given. It was resolved to do so at the end of the evidence. This is stated by Mr. Holmes, Q.C. ; but Mr. Holmes has omitted to state that the period for communicating the Reports was determined on with the acquiescence of the Counsel engaged, including Mr. Holmes himself.

XXVI.

"It is not surprising that in this state of things one of the Sub-Commissioners should state it as his opinion, that, if the mode of procedure of the Commissioners be right, the proceedings of the Sub-Commissioners are wrong, while if the system of the Sub-Commissioners be right, the procedure of the Commissioners must be wrong.—(Baldwin, 1228)." Report, Par. 25.

That is to say, that since it is absolutely impossible that the Commissioners themselves should visit the lands in person, and since they have therefore, in compliance with the statute, adopted the best mode of forming an independent opinion which was open to them, it follows that one of the two systems must be wrong. The Commissioners profess their inability to accept this reasoning.

XXVII.

"The official valuer, when he goes upon the land, necessarily finds himself in want of information with regard to the boundaries, the circumstances of the farm, the improvements that have been made, and the time when and the persons by whom they have been made. The valuation at which he arrives must be more or less dependent on these and similar considerations, but upon all such matters his information must be derived from statements made to him on the land, often upon hearsay, and always without the security or check of oath, or cross-examination." Report, Par. 26.

The Commissioners regret that before adopting a paragraph condemnatory of the procedure of the Commissioners as regards the valuers, the Committee did not think it right to summon one of those gentlemen who would have explained clearly the course they pursue. Having spoken so fully on this subject in paragraph 20, the Commissioners do not further dwell on it.

XXVIII.

"And it must be often impossible for the Commissioners to discriminate between his conclusions, arrived at from ocular inspection, and those arrived at from statements made to him. (Smith, 576–585 ; Baldwin, 1222–1228)." Report, Par. 26.

The valuer does not arrive at conclusions from statements made to him on the land. He describes the improvements he sees, adding on some occasions the extent to which, in his opinion, those improvements have increased the letting value of the farm. But in the valuation which he gives to the Court, he makes no deduction whatever for improvements, leaving such deduction, if any, to be made by the Court: so the assertion as to the impossibility of discriminating between his conclusions falls to the ground. The opinions on this head, both on the part of the witnesses relied on, and of the Committee, are mere inferences. But the fact is the other way. In order that no misconception may take place, the Commissioners point out that the valuers of whom they speak, and of whom the Report speaks, are Mr. Charles Grey Grey and the gentlemen above-named, in paragraph 20, who are associated with him, and who value for the Commissioners on re-hearings. There were, for a short time valuers attached to the Sub-Commissions, of whom Mr. William H. Gray, the witness, was one, each of whom, in visiting the land, was accompanied by one of the Assistant-Commissioners, and whose reports were framed in a different manner.

XXIX.

Report, Par. 27.

"Although the Commissioners withhold from the parties the report of the valuers until the close of the case, they have latterly furnished them at the commencement of the hearing with the figures showing the amount of the valuation put upon the farm by the valuers."

The Commissioners have for a long time past placed at the disposal of the parties prior to the hearing the amount of the valuation so soon as it is made. They have done so because it may aid, and has in many cases aided in bringing about settlements.

XXX.

Report, Par. 28.

"It is stated and the result of a number of cases tend to confirm the statement, that where the official valuer's report agrees with the judicial rent fixed by the Sub-Commissioners it is referred to as a ground for confirming the decision, but that where it fixes a valuation in excess of the Sub-Commissioners it is disregarded (Holmes, 79–80; Smith, 60–56)."

This is a charge of the grossest character recklessly made against the honour and integrity of the Commissioners. They meet it with the most absolute denial.

XXXI.

Report, Par. 28.

"It is further stated, that with comparatively rare exceptions, the decisions of the Sub-Commissioners are affirmed, and that any real hearing on appeal seldom takes place, inasmuch as the Commissioners put it to the counsel for the appellant whether they can hope to disturb a decision of the Sub-Commissioners where it tallies with the report of the valuer, and the appellant, after such an expression of opinion, feels it useless to proceed. (Holmes, 38, 45, 115—118; Foley, 820, 821; Wright, 1559—1563; Baldwin, 1230; Smith, 409—411, 427—435, 568—570, 591—597, 608—610 (619—623, 1854)."

"The Commissioners are accused of relying so exclusively on the reports of their valuers as to have their minds made up on the case before the rehearing takes place. This is a complete misrepresentation. It is true that in some cases where the report of the Court Valuer coincided as to value, either entirely or very closely, with the decision of the Sub-Commission, the Commissioners have called the attention of the advocate of the appellant, whether landlord or tenant, to the fact; and they never heard of any complaint of their doing so until the evidence before the Committee was published. The Commissioners deny that they have ever in the slightest degree discouraged the prosecution of an Appeal; on the contrary, they have always proceeded with the Appeal unless the parties expressed their desire to withdraw."

XXXII.

Report, Par. 28.

"The Commissioners have not, either in affirming or in the few cases in which they have varied the decisions below, laid down or given an explanation as to any principle on which judicial rents were to be ascertained. (Holmes, 47, 53—60.) If they had done so, they might have avoided the suggestion which has been made, that in some cases the arithmetical process of adding together different estimates of rental, and dividing them, has been adopted by the Court of Appeal. (Baldwin, 1352—1357, 1359—1368; Wright, 1522, 1583, 1617, and 1618.)"

As to this matter of principle the Commissioners cannot add to what they have already stated. In every case in which principle was involved, they have heard it argued and given their judgment upon it. As to the value of the land, they have been guided by the evidence, aided by the reports of the valuers. As to the degrading charge which the Committee insinuate, without asserting, that they have come to their decisions by an "arithmetical process," the Commissioners can only repeat their statement of its untruth.

XXXIII.

"The Committee cannot avoid arriving at the conclusion, from the statements of the witnesses already referred to, and from other evidence (Baldwin, 1316—1322), that the proceedings of the Commissioners have not tended to create confidence in them as an appellate tribunal. Report, Par. 29.

"And the combined operation of the functions of the Sub-Commissioners and Commissioners appears to be such that, whereas it was supposed that a tribunal was created for the purpose of dealing judicially with exceptional cases of excessive rent, there has been set in motion a process of valuation of rent for the whole of Ireland, and of compulsory letting at that valuation, in which the work of valuation is done by two Sub-Commissioners, without any professional or technical qualification; without any principle, standard, or rule for their guidance; with no obligation to explain the grounds of their decisions, and with an appeal that is little better than illusory. (Smith, 621, 2; Baldwin, 1036, 7, 1161, 1163)."

As to the first portion of the above extract, the Commissioners think it hardly becomes them to enter into a controversy whether confidence exists in them as an appellate tribunal. The number of requisitions for rehearing before them has been over 9,000 in all.

The Commissioners deemed it their duty to carry into effect the Act of Parliament according to its terms, and not according to "what was supposed." Nor do they think that when an application within the statute was brought into Court, they could have rejected it on the ground that the statute was "supposed" to deal only with exceptional cases. The latter part of the extract is a summary of the accusations brought throughout the Report against the Assistant-Commissioners and the Commissioners. It may be said, and possibly will be said, that if the Committee did not call before them the Assistant Commissioners who were arraigned by the witnesses, it is because the Commissioners themselves interposed, and requested that they should not be withdrawn from their employment. But any statement of this kind is capable of a very easy answer. The Commissioners were desirous, on the score of convenience, that the Assistant-Commissioners should not be withdrawn from their duties merely to give information which the Commissioners were willing to furnish. But the question assumed a new phase when accusations such as those to which the Committee have given their sanction were made against them.

It appears to the Commissioners that the Committee have departed from the constitutional principle which protects the grounds of judicial decisions from being investigated by such a body as the Committee: and that, where the rule does not apply, they have lost sight of a principle quite as sacred by condemning absent men without calling on them for their defence. They therefore submit that the Report ought not to be regarded as an impartial verdict of a Parliamentary Tribunal.

P.S.—On this morning, for the first time, the Commissioners have had an opportunity of seeing the evidence of Mr. William H. It does not occur to them that there is any change to be made in the foregoing observations in consequence of this evidence.

OFFICE OF PUBLIC WORKS,
2nd August, 1883.

LAND LAW (IRELAND) ACT, 1881
(CONSTITUTION AND PROCEDURE OF SUB-COMMISSIONS).

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 16 February 1883;—for,

COPY "of a LETTER dated the 28th day of August 1882, addressed by the Irish Land Commissioners to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant with reference to the Constitution and Mode of Procedure of the SUB-COMMISSIONS."

May it please your Excellency,

I AM directed by the Land Commissioners to submit the following observations to your Excellency with respect to the change in the constitution and mode of procedure of the Sub-Commissions proposed with a view to increased efficiency and dispatch.

The Land Commissioners had the honour to lay before your Excellency proposals in the alternative for that purpose.

Their second proposal which met with your Excellency's approbation was in substance that Sub-Commissions should hereafter consist not of three, but of two members, who should sit continuously in court, and be assisted by valuers, two of whom should be attached to each Sub-Commission, and by whom the holdings should be visited and reported on.

They have found on inquiry that this change has been strongly objected to as wanting the advantage of having one person at least who had both heard the case in court and inspected the holding, and as likely on that account to be unpopular. They also found that its adoption would involve so many changes in point of detail, that it would be impracticable to put in operation in time for the ensuing circuits of the Sub-Commissions. But as it is most desirable that a method tending both to increased expedition and to the diminution of appeals should be adopted without delay, the Commissioners would again submit to your Excellency their first proposal, of which the essential features are—

1st. That the Sub-Commissions should continue to consist as at first, of three members, but that the delegation orders should be framed so as that the powers of the Sub-Commission might be exercised by two members.

2nd. That a valuer should be attached to each Sub-Commission.

3rd. That the Legal Assistant Commissioner should sit in Court with one of his colleagues, while the remaining Assistant Commissioner and the Valuer should be engaged in visiting holdings, the Valuer visiting every holding in the list, while each Lay Assistant Commissioner should visit only those as to which he had heard, or was about to hear, the cases in Court, and that the order fixing the fair rent should be signed by him conjointly with the Legal Assistant Commissioner.

This method, if adopted, would, the Commissioners believe, both expedite the work of the Sub-Commissions, and would tend to diminish appeals by having the valuation of a Court Valuer a factor in the decision of the Court below. They submit this plan accordingly in substitution for the alternative one which they desire to withdraw.

If this method be approved of a sufficient number of valuers should be appointed by the Land Commission (with the assent of the Treasury as to number, and of your Excellency as to the persons) as will enable one valuer to be attached to each Sub-Commission. If this be done, the Commissioners do not apprehend any difficulty in having the new plan come into practical operation on the ensuing circuits.

They also submit the following matters to your Excellency. As your Excellency is aware, the new circuits have been already fixed and advertised to commence on the 18th of September, and the following arrangements must be completed at as early a date as possible. 1stly. It will be necessary for your Excellency to appoint three Lay Assistant Commissioners, and one Legal Assistant Commissioner. Two of the Lay Commissioners with a legal colleague to compose the new Derry Sub-Commission, and the third lay man to take the place of Mr. Edward O'Brien, who has intimated his wish to resign. 2ndly. As regards the period for which those gentlemen should be appointed, as well as the period for which the Assistant Commissioners appointed in November and December 1881, should be re-appointed, the Land Commissioners submit that the new appointments and the re-appointments should respectively be made up to the 13th day of April 1883, the period when the appointments made in April last will expire.

The Commissioners conceive that an advantage will be gained by providing that the entire staff of Sub-Commissioners (with the exception of those appointed for seven years) should expire at the same period, so that the Government would have an opportunity of considering the propriety of re-appointing any particular gentleman.

The Land Commission, to enable this course to be adopted, propose to make a general order under their Act, and enclose a copy herewith.

The Assistant Commissioners who will require re-appointment are mentioned in the enclosure herewith, also forwarded.

On receiving an intimation from your Excellency approving of the course here suggested, the Commissioners will proceed to make the necessary arrangements with that promptitude which the shortness of the time before the next circuits renders indispensable.

The Irish Land Commission,
28 August 1882.

IRISH LAND COMMISSION.

Thursday, the 18th day of January, 1883.

(a.) When proceedings shall be commenced in the Civil Bill Court after the 1st day of February, 1883, all applications to the Land Commission to transfer such proceedings from the Civil Bill Court to the Land Commission shall be made within one fortnight after the date on which the Originating Notice shall have been served on the party making the application, unless on special grounds the Court shall otherwise direct.

(b.) Notice of such application shall be given to the Clerk of the Peace, and to the opposite party, and also to the Land Commission. The Notice served on the Land Commission shall bear an endorsement stating the date and mode of service on the opposite party. It may be in Form 46, and there shall be sent therewith to the Land Commission a copy of the Originating Notice, together with an affidavit stating that the application is not made for the purpose of delay.

(c.) Cause against making such transfer, specifying grounds by reason of which such transfer would be unjust or unreasonable, may be shown within one fortnight after service of the notice of application to transfer on the person so showing cause, and may be in Form 47, and such notice of showing cause shall be served within the time limited upon the opposite party, and also upon the Land Commission in the usual way, addressed to the Secretary and sent through the post. The notice of cause served on the Land Commission shall bear an endorsement stating the date and mode of service on the opposite party.

(d.) If no cause is shown an order of transfer will be made as of course at the expiration of said period of one fortnight from service on the Land Commission of the notice of application to transfer, and a certified copy of such order shall be sent to the Clerk of the Peace.

(e.) When cause is shown, the party applying for the transfer may, if so advised, move to disallow the same. The cause shown will be allowed at the expiration of one fortnight from the date of service of the notice of cause upon the Land Commission, if no notice to disallow the cause has in the meantime been received, and a certificate shall be transmitted to the Clerk of the Peace accordingly. When cause is shown, and the party applying to transfer moves to have same disallowed, the Land Commission shall hear and determine the application, and may impose on either party such terms as to the Court may appear just and reasonable.

(f.) After notice of an application to transfer proceedings shall have been served on the Clerk of the Peace, he shall not list the case for hearing in the Civil Bill Court, or, if listed, the case shall not be proceeded with until the Clerk of the Peace shall have received from the Registrar of the Land Commission a notification that the application has been refused, or that the cause shown against the transfer has been allowed. Orders 62, 138, 152, and 153 shall cease to be in force as regards applications for such transfer as aforesaid in the case of proceedings commenced in Civil Bill Courts after the 1st day of February, 1883, but shall remain in force as regards all proceedings commenced before that date.

Thursday the 10th day of May, 1883.

IT IS THIS DAY ORDERED that the Rules 117 to 129 inclusive of the Rules of 1st October, 1881, and Rule 142 of 14th March, 1882, shall not apply to proceedings commenced after the date of this order under the 5th part of the Land Law Act, Ireland, 1881, and that the following Rules be applicable to all proceedings commenced after this date.

PART V.

Acquisition of Lands by Tenants.

164. Where an application is made for an advance under section 24 of the Act, to enable a tenant to purchase his holding, either in consideration of a principal sum or of a fine and fee-farm rent, such application may be made in Form No. 50, signed by the landlord or his authorized agent, and by the tenant, and shall contain the particulars, and be verified, as therein mentioned.

165. Every application under the foregoing section or under section 26 or 29 of the Act shall be accompanied by the sheet of the Ordnance 6-inch map, distinguishing thereon the holding or holdings of the tenant or tenants in respect of whose holding or holdings application is made.

166. If it shall appear to the Commission necessary to make a survey or a preliminary inquiry in respect of any application, they may before entertaining it require the applicant to lodge such sum as they may consider sufficient to cover the reasonable expenses of such survey or inquiry.

167. When either landlord or tenant desires the sale to be negotiated and completed through the medium of the Land Commission, such application may be in the Form No. 52; and the Land Commission may entertain the application, provided the landlord undertake to pay for the expenses of such negotiation and completion by per-centage on the purchase-money, according to the scale hereinafter mentioned.

The following shall be the scale until the same be altered by order.

For the expenses of negotiation, up to and including signing of contract, ...	0 10 0	per £100.
For subsequent expenses, . . including (if contract be completed) conveyance from landlord to tenant, mortgage to Commissioners, Registration and Stamp duty.		,,
When the purchase money does not exceed £500, £2 per £100.
,, ,, is over £500, but does not exceed £1,000, £1 10*s.* per £100.
,, ,, is over £1,000, but does not exceed £5,000, £1 per £100.

168. On receiving any such application as mentioned above, the Land Commissioners shall take such steps for negotiating and completing the sale either by sending an officer to communicate orally with the landlord and tenants respectively, or by written communication or otherwise, as may in each case seem advisable.

169. In every case of sale by a landlord to a tenant, including cases coming within Rule 167, the vendor shall furnish to the Land Commission a statement of his title, and the Land Commission may require such rentals, accounts, and other documents to be furnished and verified as they may think fit.

Where the sale does not come within s. 24 (2) of the Act, the landlord shall undertake to pay the Land Commission all outlay incurred by them in relation to the sale and advance, or shall lodge such amount as the Land Commission may estimate as the reasonable expenses in connexion therewith.

170. Where a landlord desires to sell his estate, and contemplates the purchase thereof by the Land Commission for the purpose of re-sale to the tenants, he may make application to the Land Commission in Form No. 53, and thereupon the Land Commission may negotiate with the landlord with respect to the price at which he will be willing to sell, and may require the landlord to sign a proposal which may be in Form No. 54, containing an undertaking to pay for the expenses of the sale by him to the Commissioners, according to the following scale :—

For the expenses up to and including notice by the Commission to the landlord of their being willing to purchase, ...	0	10	0	per £100.
Together with the subsequent expenses—that is to say, the actual outlay by the Commission in completing the sale.

171. Upon such proposal being signed, the Commission shall satisfy themselves that a competent number of the tenants are able and willing to purchase their holdings, and shall obtain from a competent number of the tenants, an undertaking to purchase their holdings which may be in Form No. 55. The Commission will estimate the entire expense of carrying out the sale by them to the tenants, and shall have regard to such estimate in settling the prices at which the respective tenants are to purchase their holdings.

172. In special cases the Commission may, with the assent of the Treasury, reduce the amount to be paid either under rule 167, or rule 170, below the scale therein mentioned.

173. The Land Commission on being satisfied that the purchase is one authorized by the Act, and is desirable, shall notify same to the landlord, and may require the landlord to furnish his abstract of title, which shall be investigated in the usual way on behalf of the Commission.

174. Upon the title being approved of, the tenants shall be called upon to lodge the one-fourth of the purchase-money, or one-half of the fines, as the case may be, and the Commission shall not be deemed bound as having contracted to purchase from the landlord, or to sell to the tenants, until such amounts shall have been lodged, and by such number of tenants as are required by the Act. Thereupon the purchase from the landlord shall be completed, and the Commission shall execute to each tenant who has proposed to pay the whole price of his holding, and who has made the due lodgment, a conveyance of his holding, and shall execute to each tenant who has proposed to purchase in consideration of a fine and a fee-farm rent, and who has made the due lodgment, a fee-farm grant of his holding.

175. Where a competent number of tenants, on any estate, desire the Land Commission to purchase the estate for re-sale to them, they shall lodge with the Land Commission an undertaking on Form 55, specifying what sums they are prepared to pay in cash, and they shall lodge such sum as the Land Commission may require, to cover the expenses of negotiation, survey, and valuation, and if the sale be effected such sum shall be deemed part of the purchase money.

176. When an application asking the Land Commission to purchase an estate, shall have been lodged, the Land Commission shall on being satisfied that the purchase is an expedient one endeavour to negotiate the purchase of the estate, and shall require the tenants to lodge their cash proportion of the purchase-money, and the landlord to lodge his title for investigation in the usual manner.

177. The Commission shall not be deemed to have contracted to purchase from the landlord, or to sell to the tenants until the due amounts shall have been lodged by such number of tenants as are required by the Act. Thereupon the purchase from the landlord or other vendors shall be completed, and the Commission shall execute to each tenant who has proposed to pay the whole price of his holding, and who has made the due lodgment, a conveyance of his holding, and shall execute to each tenant who has proposed to purchase in consideration of a fine and a fee-farm rent, and who has made the due lodgment, a fee-farm grant of his holding.

178. Where a tenant intends to bid for or to purchase a holding on an estate for sale in the Court of the Land Judges of the High Court of Justice, and requires an advance for the purpose, he shall apply on Form 58, and shall accompany his application by a copy of the rental of the estate, or of the Consolidated Final Notice to tenants, and the Land Commission may sanction an advance conditionally upon the tenant being declared purchaser of his holding.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

THE Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877 (40 & 41 Vict. c. 57, s. 72), directed that the office of the Accountant in the Landed Estates Court should be consolidated with the office of the Accountant General in the Court of Chancery, "so as to have but one Accounting Department for the Supreme Court, and all Courts and Divisions thereof;" and Rules of Court were made, under the provisions of the above Act, by an order of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in Council, dated 10th November 1881, for regulating the business in the said consolidated Accounting Office, and the practice of the Supreme Court in connection therewith.

By these Rules it was directed that the cash and securities standing in the Books of the Bank of Ireland, on the 1st December 1881, to the separate accounts of "The Accountant General, Chancery Division," "The Queen's Bench Division," "The Common Pleas Division," and "The Exchequer Division," respectively, should on that date be transferred to a consolidated account, in the name of the Accountant General for the time being, of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Ireland, and under a Rule made by the Land Judges of the said Court (dated 30th November 1881), the cash and securities standing to the credit of the Account of the Land Judges, in the Books of the Bank of Ireland, were also, on the 1st December 1881, transferred to the same Account of the Accountant General; thus consolidating in one account the whole of the funds of Suitors in the various Divisions of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Ireland.

The Rules further directed that an Account should be prepared annually by the Accountant General, showing the total amounts of funds paid or transferred into and out of Court in each year, to 30th September, and the balances of the funds in Court at the commencement and close of such year. The present account is the first account prepared under these Rules. It commences with the balance of cash actually held by the Bank of Ireland, and the balances of Government, and other securities standing in the Books of the Bank of Ireland, and of other Companies, on account of the Court of Chancery, on 30th September 1881, and includes the transactions of a complete year in respect of those funds. The balances of the funds of the Common Law Courts, and of the Landed Estates Court were (as stated above) transferred to the Consolidated Account of the Accountant General on 1st December 1881, and the Account therefore exhibits, in regard to these funds, the transactions of the 10 months ended 30th September 1882. No account has ever previously been prepared of the Funds of Suitors in the Chancery or Common Law Courts in Ireland. [See Correspondence laid before the House of Commons in 1881; Parl. Paper, No. 450, of 1881.]

The total amount of cash which, on 30th September 1881, stood to the credit of Suitors' Accounts in the Books of the Accountant General of the Court of Chancery was 387,772 l. 18 s. 8 d.; while it will be seen by the foregoing Account that the actual cash balance in the Bank of Ireland at that date, on account of the Court of Chancery, was only 143,622 l. 4 s. 2 d. The difference of 244,150 l. 14 s. 6 d. represents a cash deficiency in respect of Chancery Suitors' moneys in Ireland. This deficiency consists of moneys appropriated many years ago, out of the funds in Court, under the authority of various Acts of Parliament, towards the cost of the buildings of the Courts of Law in Dublin, and of a loss (of 7,905 l. 16 s. 11 d.) arising from a deficiency in the accounts of a former Master of the Court of Chancery in Ireland, provided for by Act 23 & 24 Geo. III. (1783), c. 22, and 30 Geo. III., c. 41 (1790).

The Consolidated Fund is liable for the amount of the deficiency, in the event of the funds in Court being at any time insufficient to meet payments to suitors. The liability may however be said to be nominal.

There is also a deficiency of 7 l. 3 s. 3 d. in the amount of cash transferred on 1st December 1881, from the Account of the Queen's Bench Division to the Consolidated Account of the Accountant General. This deficiency, which is uncovered by any formal liability of the Consolidated Fund, is the result of a double payment of 7 s. 2 s. 3 d., inadvertently made in 1867 by a former Master of that Division, and an overpayment of one shilling in 1877.
